THE GRAY WOLF.

His Cunning is Marvelous, and He is Difficult to Catch.

The cunning of the gray wolf is marvelous, and it is most difficult to catch napping. He somehow seems to know that iron is associated with man. A piece of iron anywhere will keep him at a distance. If you shoot an antelope, for instance, and just put your spur on the carcass you may leave it as long as you like and no wolf will touch it. A pocket handkerchief will do as well.

Lobo, a great gray wolf who was the king of the pack at Oquirripaw, a vast cattle range in New Mexico, was a thinker as well as a ruler. His pack ate nothing but what they had killed themselves, and thus poison was no good. At last a thousand dollars was set upon his head. This brought a noted wolf hunter from Texas, with his pack of great wolfhounds. But again there was failure. Then two other hunters came with subtly devised poisons to work his undoing. Then I came on the scene. First I tried poison, and there was no combination of strychnine, arsenic and prussic acid which I did not use. I put the poisons in cheese melted together with kidney fat, and during the whole process I wore gloves steeped in hot blood. And I scattered the bait all over the ranch. The next morning I went out and found Lobo's tracks, with the bait gone. I was delighted. I followed the track and found another bait gone and yet another. Then I found the three baits piled upon another one and covered with filth. Lobo had evidently carried the first three in his mouth and had taken this means of expressing his utter contempt for my devices. But Lobo's downfall came about through a big white she wolf who was always with him. I managed to catch her in a trap. Then I knew we should soon have Lobo. Night after night he came around the homestead and mourned his mate in long, plaintive howls. I knew he would try to find her body. I set 130 strong steel wolf traps, and in one of these I caught him—a martyr to constancy. And that was the end of Lobo.—Interview With Ernest Thompson Seton.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The easier people make money the easier they want to make it.

Among the many mysteries of childhood is why grown people cry when they are glad.

There are some people who think they have discharged their full duty to you by praying for you.

What do you use most during the day? Do you use the little white lie almost as much as your shoes?

When a man makes one mistake he usually follows it up with three or four before he recovers his balance.

Don't be conceited; get any map of the United States, and do you find any mark on it to show that you are on earth?

Every one admits that rich people are not happier than the poor, or as happy, yet every one is striving to become one of the miserable rich.—Atchison Globe.

Two Ways of Doing Business.

I have seen in London only one office where there is any real enthusiasm. And the employees seldom have any interest in the business beyond drawing their salaries. In most of the factories, and even in the offices, they are taught a certain round of duties, and they are allowed to do nothing else. They seldom suggest improvements for fear of losing their places, where in America they'd soon lose their places if they didn't make suggestions. Here it's the firm in its private offices and everybody else doing as little as possible and never stepping out of the rut they're put in, and there it's everybody working together, coats off, and the head of the concern glad to listen to the office boy and to do as he says if it means results.—Vanity Fair.

Ancient Eggs in China.

A German epicure comes to the rescue of the Chinese in regard to their alleged habit of eating rotten eggs. The eggs, he says, are simply preserved in lime until they get a consistency like that of hard butter and they taste somewhat like lobster. He declares them one of the choicest delicacies he has ever eaten. He thinks there are no better cooks in the world than the Chinese. When he went to live among them his friends predicted he would starve, but he had a good time and gained weight—more than he wanted to.

Balky Steam Boilers.

According to an engineer, though there may be every reason present why a steam boiler should steam there are occasions when it simply will not. It refuses duty and sulks without any cause that can be detected. On such occasions every one takes a hand at the fires, but the result is the same—no steam or only enough to keep three-quarters speed. Marine and stationary boilers are both thus afflicted. There are "good days" and "bad days" in the performance of each.—Chicago News.

Get Busy.

The successful man is usually busy, and the busy man is usually successful. The young man, whatever his vocation, who has not learned to economize his time and keep busy has not got the lesson most essential to a prosperous, useful and happy life.—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Combination.

"You and your husband have lived together twenty-five years and never had a quarrel? What's the secret?" "No secret at all. I'm too good natured to quarrel, and he's too indolent."—Exchange.

FREE OF CHARGE.

"Not only will I sell a 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's Dyspepsia specific at half price, but I will agree to refund the money if my customer is not satisfied with the remedy," said W. W. Keyler, the popular druggist, to a CINCINNATI man. "In other words," he continued, "the specific is free if it does not cure."

Mr. Keyler has sold hundreds of bottles on his special half price introductory offer, and has a few left for those who are fortunate enough to call at his store before they are all gone. It is the regular 50 cent size, containing sixty doses, and is the one remedy for constipation and dyspepsia that makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia is not an ordinary tablet or powder that simply relieves. This remarkable discovery makes complete and permanent cures. Mrs. Charlotte W. Wallace of Manchester, N. H., writes: "A few years ago I had a very severe attack of dyspepsia. Water distressed me as much as food, and I could find no relief. My druggist recommended Dr. Howard's specific very highly. This great medicine gave me relief at once, and I have never had another attack of dyspepsia."

Many physicians prescribe Dr. Howard's specific, for they know it cures. N. D. Rose, M. D., East Middlebury, Vt., writes: "I prescribed Dr. Howard's specific in the case of a patient who for years had been in the constant practice of taking some kind of a cathartic daily. I saw him a few days since, and he said: 'Dr. Howard's specific is a perfect Godsend; my bowels are moving every day. I shall certainly prescribe Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia when indicated.'—Advt.

Reformed Church Classes.
The regular meeting of the Newark Reformed Church, held at the Brookdale Reformed Church Wednesday afternoon, consisted of a short devotional service, which was conducted by Rev. A. M. Arcturius, assistant pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed Church, Newark, followed by reports of the various committees.

Congratulations were offered to Rev. Dr. George S. Bishop, pastor of the First Reformed Church of East Orange, on his thirtieth pastoral anniversary; Rev. Dr. Daniel H. Martin of the Clinton Avenue Reformed Church, Newark, on his fifteenth anniversary, and Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck of Plainfield on his seventeenth anniversary.

The churches made individual reports, which proved very gratifying. The Linden Church made a request for the services of Rev. Charles Schneegas of Stapleton, Long Island.

Rev. Henry Merle Mellen of Christ Reformed Church, Newark, the retiring president, presented his statistical report, which showed that there were seventeen churches in the Classis, twenty-five ministers, three candidates for the ministry, one church added during the year, a gain of 225 families for the year and 520 members, making a total of members now in communion with the Classis 5,620.

The gifts to the boards were increased over last year by $6,581. Last year $24,567 was presented, as against $31,247 this year; $67,818 was raised for congregational purposes. It was also shown that seventy members had died during the last year.

In the evening an evangelistic service was held, at which Rev. Dr. Daniel H. Martin and Rev. Dr. James I. Vance of the North Reformed Church, Newark, the new president of the Classis, made short addresses.

Y. M. E. C. Notes.

It is with much regret that the Young Men's Republican Club announces the resignation of Harry S. Banghart as secretary of the club. Mr. Banghart has made an efficient secretary and his services were highly appreciated. Clark S. Comstock has been appointed to succeed Mr. Banghart in the position of secretary for the unexpired term.

The Young Men's Republican Club will give a smoker and entertainment in Central Hall on Friday evening, May 12. The affair promises to be a great success socially and financially. Some excellent talent has been secured. Among the entertainers are some well known professionals who have achieved popularity behind the footlights. These together with the home talent the club can command give assurance of an enjoyable entertainment. Tickets are now on sale and are being readily taken.

A number of well contested games have been played during the past week in the pool tournament for the Johnson trophy. Notable events in the tournament were the defeat of Worcester by Biggart by a score of 50 to 48, and the defeat of Moffat by Mac Lean, score 50 to 46.

Madison Square Garden Races.

Theodore T. Maxfield has several entries in the races that will take place in Madison Square Garden next week on the occasion of the second annual exhibition under the auspices of the Horse Fair Association. The garden track is eight laps to the mile. Maxfield will drive Monopole in the free for all pace half mile race.

On Wednesday night there will be a 220 pace race in which Maxfield will drive the fast pacing mare Helen. Maxfield also has an entry in the 225 pace Friday evening. There are many good horses entered in these races.

Maxfield now has eighteen horses in Oakfield stables. He will take up his headquarters at Waverly a week from Monday.

Now is the time for lawn seeds and fertilizers. We carry the choicest goods. ORDER & CASH.—Advt.

Expert Mathematicians.

The late Bloomfield J. Miller was famous as an actuary, and his reputation in insurance circles was world-wide. The mathematical talent came from his father, and was shared by his brothers. Newark has always had a number of men of notable mathematical ability, and probably Mr. Miller's fame at home would have been greater if there had not been so many. His chief in the Mutual Benefit Insurance Company, former President Amos Dodd, is one of the best mathematicians in the State, and the late Judge Bradley of the U. S. Supreme Court, was also famous. The two old friends used to swap problems by letter long after Judge Bradley left Newark. Mr. Miller was therefore brought up in a severe school. Besides the regular actuaries of the insurance companies, there are several Newarkers who are blessed with this faculty. Joseph L. Munz is one and Chandler W. Riker another. Both, like Mr. Dodd, led their classes at Princeton in mathematics. The quickest man at figures was the late Oba Woodruff, of the Daily Advertiser. We have seen him correct an error in addition made by an expert bank teller, when the sheet was reversed. Mr. Woodruff adding as rapidly with the figures upside down as the teller had with the columns regularly before him.—Sunday Call.

Lackawanna Summer Resorts.

"Mountain and Lake Resorts" is the title of an attractive publication just issued by the Passenger Department of the Lackawanna Railroad. The book is intended to give readable and reliable information about vacation places along that road, and its 128 pages are filled with suggestions for those seeking summer homes. The various hotels and boarding places, their location, rates and facilities are accurately described. More than 100 half-tones add to the interest of the book, and a brightly written love story, entitled "A Paper Proposal," completes its contents.

The book may be had by sending the necessary postage of ten cents to T. W. Lee, General Passenger Agent, Lackawanna Railroad, New York city.
